Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 12 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny and cold today. Rain and snow tomorrow.

Today:
A frosty and in places icy start, but dry and sunny throughout with mainly light winds. It will be a little breezier along North Sea coasts and for all areas it will remain cold. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
A widespread and in places sharp frost soon developing overnight under clear and starry skies. Cloud will steadily increase through the early hours, but it will remain dry. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Wednesday:
A bright start in the east, but quickly clouding over with outbreaks of rain, sleet and hill snow by midday. The snow may fall to lower levels at times. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Risk of rain and snow continuing through Thursday, but gradually easing. Dry and bright on Friday after a frosty and icy start. Further rain and hill snow likely on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.